GOOD SCENTS
 “I like Chanel’s Chance eau de parfum [£45, 020 7493 3836] and I’m getting into scented candles, as they make a place feel homely. I go for masculine scents – not ones that smell like cake batter.”

SUN SENSE
 “Although I grew up in sunny Arizona, I didn’t prioritise skincare. Now I wear a product with at least SPF 40 on my face every day. I love Josie Maran’s Argan Daily Moisturizer SPF 40 [£21.70, amazon.co.uk].”

Above, Grow Luscious Mascara, £9.99, Revlon (available nationwide); and, right, Organic Coconut Oil, £8.95, Pukka (victoriahealth.com)

BEAUTY BOOTY
 “I love Revlon’s Nearly Naked Makeup. It’s light, so my freckles show through. I also adore Revlon’s ColorBurst Lip Butter in Red Velvet – a lovely deep shade. To cleanse my face, I keep it simple with Cetaphil’s Gentle Skin Cleanser [£8.99, boots.com].”

Nearly Naked Make-up, £8.99, Revlon (available nationwide)

OIL WELL
 “My skin is chronically dry, so when I’m travelling I take argan oil with me. I have to put oils on my skin because it feels like I can’t move my face if I don’t!”

COLOUR CODE
 “I enjoy being a redhead but, for me, blonde is the easiest colour to be. I’m naturally fair, so my hair grows out blonde and I see my colourist just twice a year.”

SENSITIVE SKIN
 “As I’m allergic to a lot of fragrances, I go for gentle, natural skincare, like coconut, argan and olive oils. I also have a sensitivity to glycerine, which is in almost every skincare product, although it’s fine in make-up because my moisturiser acts as a barrier.”

From left, ColorBurst Lip Butter in Red Velvet; Brown Sugar; and Sugar Plum, £7.99 each, Revlon (available nationwide)
